Dear _____ [Recipient Name] OR [Studio Name] team,,

My name is Stephan Bradley and I am a design student in the Interface Design program at Kapi'olani Community College. I am contacting you regarding the possible opportunity to apply for a internship this Fall. My interest in interning with you comes from your work on branding, which I would love to experience from a professional setting perceptive.

Around 2011 I start working as a graphic designer in Brazil, where I was born and raised. At the time, I learned technical skills by trying out new software and technologies, and grasped design concepts by attending events such as UX Book Club and Startup Weekend. Currently, I'm expanding my design comprehension and filling gaps as a full-time student. Now I look forward to learn even more in a internship.

My past experiences in freelance contracts and a full-time job, which includes dealing with easy going clients and finding manageable compromises, and the new skills I have learned over the past year, ranging from UX to print-design, would allow me to become a valuable asset to your [studio] OR [company]. I am confident that my drive to learn and work ethic outweigh my inexperience in a professional design-centered environment and faults in my skill set. Keenness for creating and articulating concepts and easy adaptation to new environments are some of my supportive abilities.

Enclosed is my resume, a portfolio sample, and a pdf version of this cover letter. Please feel free to email me at contact@stephanbradley.net or call me at (808) 541-7033, any time on Fridays–Mondays/Wednesdays or from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. on Tuesdays/Thursdays. I look forward to learn if a internship opportunity is available. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Regards,

Stephan Bradley
